Brewster Target Of Investigators

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—A Senate rackets investigation rolled out a mass of evidence today that Frank W. Brewster, a top Teamsters Union official, applied cash from the union till to a home, racing stable, and costly tailor-made suits.

There was evidence, too, that the boss of the Teamsters Western Conference doubled up on expense accounts, and got some of the gifts the union spread around at Christmas time.

Finally, after the grilling had gone on for hours, the investigators cited larceny laws to the sweating, squirming witness.

Easy-Paying Buying Adds Fuel To Booms

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—Easy-payment buying has added fuel to booms and, less often, has "aggravated" recessions, the staff of the Federal Reserve Board reported today.

The board sent to the President's Council of Economic Advisors a major contribution to the debate on stand-by consumer credit controls—a 5-volume, 1,619-page report on the economic impact of installment buying.

It concluded that a credit crash like that of 1929-32, marked by debt defaults, home foreclosures and repossessions of autos and furniture, is less likely in the modern business structure.

Research Team

The board's research team did not try to answer the key question which underlay President Eisenhower's request for the study a year ago—whether Congress should enact stand-by power to control down payments and repayment terms.

But the staff did conclude that installment debt, now a 31½-billion-dollar load, is among "the less stable kinds of credit."

The researchers found that credit buying has become increasingly "respectable." Forty-five families out of 100 are making time payments, including a surprising number with incomes over $7,500 a year.

Weighing probable future trends the staff headed by research director Ralph A. Young concluded that:

1. Consumer credit may grow by 5 to 6 per cent a year—more slowly than in the recent past, but probably more rapidly than consumers' income will rise.
2. By 1965, families may be putting 13 to 14 per cent of their spendable income into installment buying, as against 11 per cent in the past two years and 7 per cent in 1940.
3. Installment terms won't get much easier or much tighter. Lenders indicate unwillingness to incur greater risks. And new car terms are so extended that further lengthening would not reduce monthly payments markedly.
4. In upswings, consumer credit will continue to stimulate business, but the "degree of stimulation is likely to be less than during preceding periods of vigorous credit growth."

Jury Orders Hoffa Indictment

Union Chief Accused Of Conspiracy

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, a top leader of the Teamsters Union, on charges of setting up a conspiracy to buy secrets of the Senate rackets investigation.

Hoffa was arrested last Wednesday night by the FBI, and Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the investigating committee said he was "very gratified" at the prompt indictment.

"The Justice Department moved promptly and the grand jury with equal promptness discharged its responsibility," McClellan told reporters.

"I hope that trial may be had at an early date."

Indicted with Hoffa was Hyman I. Fischbach, a Miami lawyer, who McClellan said last week acted as an agent for Hoffa in what the senator pictured as a plot to plant a spy in the midst of the investigators.

Wording

The indictment, handed to U. S. District Judge Richmond B. Keach, accused Hoffa and Fischbach of conspiring "corruptly to influence, obstruct and impede" the McClellan committee inquiry.

The investigation up to now has been concerned primarily with allegations that the Teamsters Union trafficked with vice and corruption in the Pacific Northwest.

Hoffa is a vice president of the Teamsters Union and head of its Central States Conference, with headquarters at Detroit. Committee aides have said it was planned to question him later.

Another witness the senators have been waiting to hear is Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters Union.

The grand jury report today said that Hoffa, on returning some committee papers he was alleged to have received in furtherance of the conspiracy, remarked "that it looked like Beck's goose was cooked if that is what they have on Beck, and at that time expressed the desire to receive more information of the same character."

Hoffa has long been considered the No. 2 man in the Teamsters Union, if not No. 1 in its behind-the-scenes operations.

Four Men Killed As Elevator Falls

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 18 (AP)—A construction elevator, loaded with 17 workmen getting ready to go home, plunged five floors to the ground at the new Duval County Courthouse today killing four men.

Some wives of the workmen, waiting on the street and in parking cars, were among the horrified witnesses.

Rescuers rushed 13 injured to hospitals where their conditions were reported serious or critical.

Witnesses said they heard a snap—apparently a cable giving way—and the elevator smacked to the ground. "It sounded like an explosion," one said.

Screams

"Then there were screams," said Bob Marsh, an insulation superintendent who was standing on the ground. "To describe it is hell," he said. "Bodies were all piled up, and there were cries of 'Help! I'm dying!'"

Police listed these dead: George Edward Leach, 31, Dewey Wood, 45; Glenn D. Idol, 25; and Jack Monroe Thompson, 24.

British Factory Workers Join Shipyards In Paralyzing Strike

LONDON, March 19 (AP)—Union leaders tonight ordered 2½ million factory workers to join in a phased strike aimed at paralyzing Britain's manufacturing industries by April 6.

Seventy shipyards already are idle by a walkout of 200,000 men. Taken together, the two strikes could bring the British economy almost to a standstill in the worst industrial chaos since the general strike of 1926.

The order for factory strikes went out only a few hours before Prime Minister Harold Macmillan took off for talks with President Eisenhower in Bermuda on vital international questions.

Union bosses, fighting for a 10 percent wage rise for workers in the shipbuilding engineering industries, ordered the phased strike to begin Saturday.

It was planned to start with a walkout in selected key plants and build up over a fortnight to a wholesale stoppage over the entire industry, which turns out 40 percent of Britain's exports.

Plans for the strike were announced by 40 labor leaders after a London conference of the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering unions.

The confederation is directing both the shipyard and factory strikes. It is demanding a hard cash offer from employers before agreeing to negotiate any settlement of the disputes. The employers, however, have declined to make a cash offer although they have agreed to accept any award made by an independent arbitrator.

The threat of a third strike by 370,000 employees of the state-run railroads was still in the air.

Railwaymen, also demanding a 10 percent pay hike, awaited the report of a government wage tribunal. Union officials made it plain that an offer of 3 percent or less might bring a walkout.

Minutes before the shooting, William Hassett, 25, Louisville, had robbed the nearby bank of Sellersburg of $1,650.

Gingery, who at first was reluctant to talk about the incident, finally invited newsmen to his modest two-story home located next to his church on a street corner of this small southern Indiana town.

Gingery described his work and his family with no outward sign of uneasiness.

He said his wife Elizabeth was a Quaker, and that their oldest boy, Dick, 12, "had more trouble with this matter than anyone else. He had been taught otherwise and I had a hard time explaining."

"Dick just broke down and cried."

"I didn't feel that being a dead minister would help."

"I can't say that this was the will of God... but I am sure I did the right thing."

With these words, the Rev. Robert W. Gingery, 37, today related in an interview how he shot to death a bank robber who minutes before had slain the Methodist minister's close friend, state police Sgt. Marvin Watts.

"I feel sorrow, but not guilt," he said. Gingery said he believed the Fifth Commandment—"Thou shalt not kill"—referred as much to intent as to action.

"I intend to carry out the Commandments," he said. "In this instance, it was accidental that I was there (with the policeman) in the first place. I believe we are judged on the basis of our intentions, not wholly, but primarily."

ENROUTE WITH EISENHOWER AT SEA, March 19 (AP)—The cruiser Canberra, with President Eisenhower on deck, came under simulated atomic attack today from planes striking with speeds of more than 500 miles an hour.

It was a demonstration of "atomic techniques" in bombing and rocket firing, the President's press secretary, James C. Hagerly, told newsmen.

Jet fighters and attack bombers—dispatched from the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt 200 miles away—streaked to targets within 2,000 yards of the Canberra which is taking the President to Bermuda for talks with British Prime Minister Macmillan.

The 20-minute demonstration, announced in advance, was the second display of U. S. naval might put on for the President as he continued his slow six-day cruise to the diplomatic rendezvous.

The President took the meaning of a voyage in the hope of getting rid of a cold, cough and ear ailment.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician on the Canberra, sent word to newsmen on accompanying destroyers that Eisenhower's ear inflammation is "entirely cleared up" and that he has "no symptoms now of a cold."

Earlier, the President's cough had been reported much improved.

The Canberra is due in Bermuda at 4 p.m. tomorrow and the sessions with Macmillan begin Thursday.

Yesterday, the President saw a Terrier guided missile fired from the Canberra explode a pilotless "drone" plane.

Request By House HARRISBURG, March 19 (AP)—The House today asked the Highway Department to investigate the safety conditions and traffic hazards of a Legislative Route (40033) between Nanticoke and Hanover Twp., Luzerne County.

The strike against Grand Trunk was threatened over disagreements about extra work in the company yards, U. S. Dist. Judge Michael L. Igoe of Chicago issued a temporary injunction against the strike. The railroad, which consists of the United States lines of the Canadian National Railway, argued the union had not exhausted all remedies for peaceful settlement, and that the strike would cost the line $750,000 a day.

Both disputes involve working conditions. W. E. B. Chase, brotherhood vice president, said the union has 23 grievances against the New York Central, including what he called "indiscriminate discipline" and "unwarrented" firings. The mediation board sent Frank Switzer to Cleveland to start new talks.

Trunk walkout, which would have affected about 7,000 workers.

Macmillan Leaves For Ike Parley

LONDON, March 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan left by plane tonight for what he called understanding and friendship talks with President Eisenhower in Bermuda.

He expressed confidence that "a great deal will be gained" from a frank exchange of views.

Macmillan was accompanied by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, U. S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney, and 39 advisers and secretaries.

They are due in Bermuda tomorrow morning after a stopover at Gander on their 3,600-mile flight.

Behind him, Macmillan left a country crippled by a shipyard strike and threatened other strikes, and a strained economic position.

But he told an airport news conference he did not think the industrial crisis would shorten his absence.

He made it clear that his prime purpose will be to restore understanding and friendship with the United States after the coolness caused by the British-French invasion of Egypt.

"This is one occasion when the British will be quite frank and I feel sure the Americans will be quite frank about what they feel," the Prime Minister said.

He said that is the reason he sent Foreign Minister Golda Meir on her latest mission to the United States—to make clear to Eisenhower and to U. S. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld that Israel will insist on "freedom from terror on the Gaza border and freedom of passage through both the Suez Canal and the Aqaba Strait of Tiran."

Interview The interview—one in a series Ben-Gurion gives to news agencies and news magazines on an alternating basis—went beyond his previous public warnings.

Ben-Gurion declared March 9 Israel will "turn her rights to free navigation in Aqaba Gulf into an indisputable fact." He told his Parliament last Wednesday Israel would consider herself free to act on her own if Egypt took over the Gaza Strip from U. N. forces.

Saudi Arabia has since joined Egypt in declaring the mouth of the gulf, Tiran Strait, to be Arab territorial waters from which Israel will be barred. And the U. N. Emergency Force in Gaza, under prodding of the new Egyptian administration, if gradually giving up interior holdings to reinforce its guard on the Gaza—Israeli frontier.

Second Milk Strike Possible NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—A dairy farmer of Sayre, Pa., told a U. S. Department of Agriculture hearing today that unless the question of extending a federal milk marketing order to combine New York city, northern New Jersey and unregulated New York upstate areas under a single order is settled soon, there would be a strike that would be "the real thing."

The farmer, Kenneth J. Hoover, said he has a herd of 50 milking cows and "there is going to be a strike that will be the real thing unless we can get unity among the producers, handlers and cooperatives."

Certain areas of Pennsylvania are covered under federal milk marketing order No. 27.

Committee Approves HARRISBURG, March 19 (AP)—Committee approval today was given a House bill which would amend the New Jersey-Pennsylvania compact to authorize the Delaware River Toll Bridge Commission to appoint policemen with power to arrest for evasion or attempted evasion of toll payment.

Worden Sent To State Hospital NORRISTOWN, Pa., March 19 (AP)—Judge Harold G. Knight of Montgomery County Court today committed James E. Worden, 42, to the Norristown State Hospital after hearing testimony that a series of "wild parties" were held at the Worden estate last summer.

Worden and his wife, Cornelia, 53, both pleaded guilty to morals charges in connection with the affairs which police said were staged around the Worden swimming pool. Specifically Worden was accused of contributing to the delinquency of minors, possession of lewd pictures and adultery.

Israel Warns Army Ready To March

JERUSALEM, March 19 (AP)—The open threat of a new war emerged today from Israel's dismay at Gaza Strip and Aqaba Gulf developments since she turned over those battle-won territories to the United Nations.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion said Israel's army will march against Egypt again if President Nasser "tries to block our historic and legal passage into the Gulf of Aqaba." He voiced these views in an interview with a Newsweek magazine correspondent, Curtis G. Pepper, at Tel Aviv.

"It would be a black day on the moral conscience of the world if we had to move our army to defend our rights," he said. "We will do it only as a last resort. But if forced, we will do it and do it effectively."

Ben-Gurion implied he hoped for backing from President Eisenhower — "an honorable man, a friend and a general of armies" — on the basis of a letter Eisenhower dispatched to him during Israel's early March crisis over the final pullout orders. Israelis have generally regarded that letter as a pledge.

If there is no forthright action by the United Nations, Ben-Gurion said, the Eisenhower Doctrine "could certainly be used to halt such a little man as Nasser."

"In his letter, the President stated we would have no regrets if we withdrew," Ben-Gurion said. "For me, this was more valid than any treaty between nations. That was the word not only of the President of the United States, but of an honorable man, a friend and a general of armies... we do not have cause for regret yet, but we definitely have cause to worry."

He said that is the reason he sent Foreign Minister Golda Meir on her latest mission to the United States—to make clear to Eisenhower and to U. S. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld that Israel will insist on "freedom from terror on the Gaza border and freedom of passage through both the Suez Canal and the Aqaba Strait of Tiran."

Dr. Williams Airs Method Of Accrediting

BANGOR—More than 100 parents attended the regular meeting of the Parent Teacher Assn. of the Bangor Area Joint High School on Monday night in the high school auditorium. A panel discussed the area of school accreditation as it affects the future of the students of the school and the related seriousness of ever increasing demands for better education.

Dr. Trevor Williams, principal of the high school, in opening remarks informed the parents that two and not one agency accredits schools today. The Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg sets up minimum standards that all schools, be they public, private or parochial, must meet.

However, to be listed on the group of accredited schools, an invitation must first be made to the schools by the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges of which there are 231 colleges and 847 secondary schools in Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Review

Following the invitation, the school spends one year reviewing its own standards as they relate to the standards of the association. After this receives the approval of the association, a team of 14 educational experts, is sent into the school for a week-long period of inspection and evaluation.

Final approval of the school as an accredited school depends on a review of the report by the association. The process with all requirements met would take at least two to three years of preparation. Dr. Williams reported that the local high school has been accredited constantly for the period from 1932 to the present time.

Members of the panel took up various areas of accrediting following the opening remarks of Dr. Williams.

Warren Kressler, president of the PTA who conducted the business meeting, spoke as a panel member in the position of a parent; Merle Mabus as a member of the board of education; Arnold Wynne, as guidance counselor; Thomas Werner as a parent and Millard Gleim from the viewpoint of the State Department of Public Instruction, where he is employed during the summer months.

Mixed Chorus

Prior to the business session and program, the Mixed Chorus of the Junior High School and the Junior High School Girls Ensemble under the direction of Miss Mae Eschenbach, supervisor of vocal music offered several selections. Miss Bonnie Slutter was the accompanist.

The business session under the direction of Kressler, featured routine reports and the naming of the following persons to a nominating committee: Mrs. Arthur Baker, Mrs. Abraham Sandler, Earl Kressler and Thomas Werner. Plans were made to hold the next meeting on Monday, April 15, when the area of discussion will center on mathematics and science.

An exhibit of scientific projects prepared by members of the science club under the direction of Charles Sandwick was held in the school cafeteria. A social hour of refreshments climaxed the meeting served by Junior High School home economics students directed by Miss Harriet Commins and Mrs. Sullivan Cistone.

Plans Made To Prepare Vaccine Forms

BANGOR—Plans to assist the Bangor Senior Women's Club in preparing the forms for the Salk vaccine shots were made on Monday when members of the Future Nurses Club of the Bangor Area Joint High School met with Rochelle Gialquinto, president in charge.

Named to a committee to assist were: Christine Spagnola, Carol Priori, Edna Freeman, Mary Ann Rowlands, Jeanne Schultz, Barbara Fritz, Wanda Schankel and Eleanor Hande-long.

Routine reports were presented by the secretary and treasurer and members made nut cups to assist in the Red Cross drive. Miss Marie Engler, R. N., advised the club during its meeting.

Promised Land

THE PROMISED Land Ladies Community Club met at the home of Mrs. Clemence Wilson. The club welcomed three new members into their organization, Mrs. Doris Mathews, Mrs. June Conger and Mrs. Roy Kistler. The club appointed Mrs. Evelyn Haldaman as its representative to the new industrial movement. After a lengthy business meeting the hostesses served a luncheon.

At the March 12 meeting of the Volunteer Fire Assn., the president appointed Donald Conger as representative to the industrial movement in the Newfoundland area.

A surprise stork shower was held for Mrs. Charles Schoenagel, the former Miss Thelma Olsommer, at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Haldaman. The hostesses were Miss Audrey Olsommer and Mrs. Evelyn Haldaman. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schoenagel, Mrs. Fred Schoenagel, Mrs. Oscar Schoenagel, Mrs. Carl Schoenagel, Ruth Ann Schoenagel, Mrs. Emil Schoenagel, Mrs. Evelyn Siegfried, Mrs. Helen Bastian, Mrs. Clemence Wilson, Mrs. Allen Weidand, Mrs. Esther Krautter, Mrs. Betty Butler, Mrs. Mary Olsommer, Mrs. Harriet Merkel, Mrs. Lena Marrow, Miss Arlene Olsommer, Mrs. Kathryn Olsommer, Miss Henrietta Olsommer, Mrs. June Conger, Mrs. Marie Metzger, Mrs. Edith Price. Those who could not attend were: Miss Camilla Launty, Mrs. George Bloss, Mrs. Esther Jones, Mrs. Lelia Jones, Mrs. Oscar Olsommer, Miss Pauline Olsommer, Mrs. John Schiabe, Mrs. Elsie Hettes, Mrs. Shirley Morro, Mrs. Leah Osborne, Mrs. Leon Heberling, Mrs. Doris Matthews, Mrs. Erma Meyers, Miss Jennie Wilson, Mrs. Emily Olsommer, Mrs. Helen Leahy, Mrs. Paul Mirminia, Mrs. Emma Kelly.

"Be cautious, not careless," was the advice of Greene-Dreher firemen after they had fought the third field fire this month. A two-acre blaze in Greentown brought out 12 men and both trucks of the local company. Grass fires and those caused by trash which blows out of containers while burning are a particular threat during this time of year, according to Fire Chief Charles Ehrhardt.

Pvt. Gerald Obert, son of Arthur Obert of Greentown and Mrs. Emanuel Keiper, Tobyhanna, has arrived home for a two-week leave after completing his training at Fort Knox, Ky. He enlisted Jan. 7, 1957, after attending Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint High School, Newfoundland.

Laboratory School Kindergarten Pupils To Present Annual Circus

By Leonard Randolph
ALL OF THE big time circuses may have fallen by the wayside. But at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College Laboratory School kindergarten pupils will "carry on" the old-time tradition as usual tomorrow.

At 1:30 p.m. the kids will start their "big parade." It's an annual custom in the Lab School—and one which has gradually won the enthusiastic response of parents and community residents alike.

Director for the circus is Marie C. Brown, kindergarten supervisor. She is assisted by Carol Perkins and Joanne Woods, student teachers in the elementary curriculum. Accompanist will be Marcella Nagorski, first grade student teacher.

Right from the start the show will have all the appearance of a regular three-ring circus—with the possible exception of real animals. Steven Miller will be the announcer (or to you circus fans, the "barker").

There will be four "clowns," Joseph Murphy, David Serfass, Daniel Wilkins and Kenneth Kunkle and an "organ grinder" in the person of Georgianna Sargent. For midway visitors who are fond of impossible feats there will be Joseph Polinski, appearing in his new role as a "sword swallower" and Karen Magorsky who will charm snakes (it says here on the program).

Among the (perfectly tame) wild animals will be Edward Sargent, Terry Lee Heeter, Debra Shepps, Douglas Lockard, Elizabeth Howell, all appearing as "elephants" with Jo Ellen Berger as their "trainer"; Cynthia Dailey, Frederick Schwartz, Harvey Potter, and Ann Thompson as "lions" with Stuart Pollan as the "trainer"; Christine Malos as the "trained seal"; Judy and Jacqueline Cucara, Pamela Dutter and Elaine LaBade as "ponies" and Elizabeth Kulsher as the "trainer."

THE CIRCUS SCORES A COMEBACK—At State Teachers College Laboratory School these kindergarten pupils will produce their version of the traditional three-ring extravaganza Thursday at 1:30 p.m. In photo are: Stuart Pollan, Brenda Oney, Harvey Potter, Susan Crowley (on the high trapeze), Kenneth Kunkle and Daniel Blewitt. Danny is preparing to show his strength by lifting the "300 pound weight" from the floor.

A tumbling act will be performed by Edward W. Mosteller, William LaBar, Jane Ellen Buser, Geraldine Fetherman and Debra LaBar and Bruce Werkheiser, Susan Crowley and Eva Fish will be trapeze artists. Daniel Blewitt will be seen as "the strong man."

Testing their skill as "tight rope walkers" will be Michael Sobrinski, Deborah Ellenberger, Brenda Oney, Judy McCluskey and Brenda Weiss. Beverly Sayre will do a "novelty number" and all of the girls in the kindergarten not cast in other roles will take part in the "corps de ballet."

Final touch on the program will be an "authentic, old-fashioned Wild West Show" with all the rip-roaring, honest-to-leather fervor which you may have thought disappeared with "Westerns" when Ken Maynard stopped riding down that old dusty trail. The ones on the left will be Indians. Customers are warned to watch out for flying hooves.

A spokesman for the directors said last night that "all parents of kindergarten children are cordially invited and urged to attend to help make this a memorable event."

With all that talk about the untimely departure of King Bros., Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey, the children of the Lab School's kindergarten may have proved a valid modern-day point: That the circus lives forever in the heart of a child.

No bankruptcy proceeding or television show can change that.

Bill Calls For Delay Of Equalization

A BILL endorsed by Pennsylvania County Commissioners Association would postpone the deadline for finishing county tax equalization programs to Jan. 1, 1960.

State Sen. William J. Lane, Washington County Democrat and county commissioner, said yesterday that some counties "must" have a two-year extension.

The present deadline is January 1, 1958. "They will have to give us two more years," Lane said. "We have been working on this for five years and it's no way near completion."

Lane said his bill would have the State Commissioners' Association endorse. As the law now stands, there is no penalty for county commissioners who fail to set up the new uniform assessment program.

Municipalities and school districts are allowed to petition the court, however, for a mandamus writ to force action on the project if it has not been begun or is being delayed.

Response

In response to questions, Sen. George Stevenson, Clinton Republican, chairman of the Senate Local Government Committee declined to take any position on Lane's proposal for another two-year extension of deadline.

"We would like to see the law go into effect as soon as possible, although we don't want to work a hardship on anybody," Stevenson said.

The deadline for enactment of assessment revision and equalization in counties has already been postponed twice, by amendments to the law.

Monroe County Commissioners recently took initial steps toward resumption of the work. It has been stalled in this county since January of 1956 after the engineering firm in charge of the job was dismissed by previous county commissioners before new commission members took over their posts.

At a meeting two weeks ago, commissioners told their solicitor L. A. Achteman to prepare specifications and a contract so that bids could be advertised for and received.

Japanese Dancer To Present Program At College Tomorrow

EAST STROUDSBURG STATE Teachers College students and residents of this community will see and hear one of the most unusual cultural programs presented locally in recent years tomorrow morning.

At a regular college convocation, the featured performer and "lecturer" will be Miss Sahomi Tachibana, one of the two greatest Japanese dancers in the United States.

Miss Tachibana appeared as the star of the "Cherry Blossom Time" production at Radio City Music Hall recently. Her program at the local college auditorium, beginning at 10 a.m., will consist of old and new dances familiar to Japanese tradition and custom.

Praise

She has been hailed throughout America as one of the world's leading exponents of her country's dance forms. Walter Terry dance critic of the New York Herald Tribune, described her program in recital as "magnificently costumed and beautifully performed."

One of America's leading dance creators and directors, Ted Shawn, director of the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival, has said: "Sahomi Tachibana is an artists' artist—a dancer's dancer... with personal beauty... she has extraordinary range and variety and is able to portray masculine strength in one dance and in the very next to be the quintessence of fragile femininity."

The program is open to those in the community who care to attend. No admission is charged.

Aid Society Committees Make Reports

Mrs. Frederick Jones reported on the results of the study made by her committee on protective service and Mrs. Jesse Flory gave the report and recommendations of the personnel committee.

Announcement

Announcement was made of the state conference to be held April 30 at Harrisburg when Joseph Reed, executive director of Child Welfare will speak on the role of private services in caring for children. It will be a luncheon meeting, and local members were urged to attend.

Plans were also discussed for the annual meeting of the local society in May. Mrs. Jean Albert, executive secretary, reported on the acceleration program for adoption services now in effect to speed action in cases of couples wishing to adopt children.

Tatamy Man Seeks Court Order Change

PHILADELPHIA, March 19 (AP)—John F. Nehila Jr. of Tatamy Borough, Northampton County, Pa., today asked the Pennsylvania Superior Court to set aside an order for a new trial in a damage action brought against him by Mrs. Viola Snyder of Phillipsburg, N.J.

Mrs. Snyder was struck by an auto driven by Nehila on Jan. 21, 1954 at an intersection in Easton, Pa.

Mrs. Snyder, after a jury trial, won a verdict of $1,100. Claiming that this was insufficient, she asked and won permission for a new trial.

Atty. Francis H. S. Ede, representing Nehila, asked the Superior Court to set aside the new trial motion granted by the Northampton County Common Pleas Court.

Counsel For Defendants Wins Non-Suit

COUNSEL for the defendant in a highway accident case successfully moved for a "non-suit" when the plaintiff failed to appear for the trial in Monroe County Court yesterday.

The case involved a New Jersey resident, John J. Sincavage, who sued Kermit Leibensberger and Marvin Burkett, both of Lehighton, driver and owner respectively of a truck which allegedly crashed into the Sincavage auto in Delaware Water Gap in 1951.

Defendant

Elmer F. Possinger, Stroudsburg, was named as an additional defendant because authorities alleged, his car collided with the truck, pushing it into the Sincavage vehicle.

The case came to trial yesterday. When Sincavage failed to appear, counsel for the defendants moved for the "non-suit," which was granted by Judge Fred W. Davis.

Mrs. Lubbe Succumbs

Dr. West Speaks To Methodist Group

By Paul Carlson
BUCK HILL FALLS — Canon Edward Nason West, an international authority on liturgics, yesterday posed several pertinent questions — the answers of which could affect the future relationships of various Christian communions.

However, the well-known Episcopal churchman didn't propose any answers himself as he discussed issues which must be resolved by liturgiologists in every communion.

Dr. West, canon sacrist of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City, delivered a series of three lectures before more than 425 Methodist ministers at the fifth annual Philadelphia Area Preaching Convocation at The Inn here. His topic was "Ritual, Symbol and Art in Christian Worship."

Canon West, in an interview, observed that the true function of liturgy is to "work out in prayer that which a particular communion has experienced in its relationship with God."

"The real problem between the great traditions of Christianity," he said, "is not whether there is a God, but, rather, what God is like."

"The tremendous importance of Biblical theology in our day is the rediscovery of the New Testament's basic message: If you wish to know what the dread power behind the universe is really like—then look at Jesus of Nazareth, and see."

"Increasingly," he continued, "the great communions are re-thinking the implications of their own worship in terms of the New Testament's account of the spiritual activities of early Christians.

"All of us now realize that the so-called 'Lord's Prayer' is in reality the great intercession for the Kingdom of God, but some of us are only now remembering that the Church is called on to heal the sick, cast out demons, and raise the dead."

Canon West, advisor to the Episcopal bishop of New York on Orthodox Ecclesiastical Relations, also noted that, for Christ, "Paradise" was a present fact.

"What, therefore," he asked, "do we do about the dead?"

Although Canon West did not attempt to answer the question for various Christian communions, he did point out that any serious consideration of the theological implications involved should result in an "adequate doctrine of the communion of the saints."

Canon West further noted that the Kingdom was a small, tightly-knit, highly-disciplined body — "a chosen few called by the Spirit to minister on God's behalf to a world which He had loved so much that it cost the life of His Only-Begotten Son."

"How does this affect our too lax church membership?" he quizzed. "Have we come to think of the Church as co-terminous with the love of God?"

In raising another question, Dr. West pointed out that Christ told a great and thoughtful man that it was necessary to be "reborn even to know the Spirit."

"Has our idea of Christianity changed from this so much that we think of children as 'born Christian,' rather than as 'born of Christian parents'?" he asked.

Further noting that the New Testament makes a sharp distinction between "existence" and "life," Canon West inquired: "What does this imply in all our thinking about salvation?"

He further observed that, in the past, controversy has arisen over such matters as the relationship of faith and works.

"These are great words," he remarked. "But to play faith against works is to enter a Never-Never Land, whereas the New Testament takes them both for granted."

Therefore, he stressed, any re-thinking of theological issues must involve the Bible, which he quoted Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick as saying, is "the normative record of religious experience."

"These are some of the problems which confront liturgiologists in every communion," he remarked. "The answers are going to be so astonishingly similar that the entire future of relationships between the churches will be affected by them."

"Praying the same prayers to the same kind of God will permit that union of hearts which historical hurts and well-nursed misunderstandings only tend to divide," he added.

Elimination Of Authorities Recommended As Means Of Saving Money For Taxpayers

The bipartisan Government Reorganization Commission set up by the Legislature to study the operations of state agencies, bureaus and departments has made its first formal report.

Putting its finger on one of the extravagances of government in Pennsylvania, the report recommended abolition of the General State Authority and enactment of legislation which would eliminate the need for local authorities.

In coming to grips with the authority device for financing public improvements beyond constitutional debt limits, the commission touches a spot where expenses can be cut.

Authorities were designated to by-pass the restrictions which exist at state and local levels with respect to general indebtedness. The State Constitution says Pennsylvania's general debt shall not exceed one million dollars. Efforts to raise this figure have been defeated at the polls.

As for municipalities, the law says officials may not create a bonded debt in excess of two percent of assessed valuation without consent of the people. With their consent, the maximum is seven percent.

Governing bodies have circumvented these restrictions by creating authorities and empowering them to create debt. Such debts are either self liquidating, or are to be retired through annual rentals which municipalities or school districts agree to pay for the facilities thus provided.

Basically, authorities do a useful and necessary job. Moreover, they command the voluntary service of outstanding and capable private citizens.

Their flaw is that financing through them is expensive. Because authority obligations lack the "full faith and credit" backing which municipal bonds enjoy, a higher rate of interest must be paid.

This is the point at which the Government Reorganization Commission aims when it suggests that borrowing privileges be broadened for municipalities and school districts.

It argues that money borrowed directly by a city or school district, and backed up by taxes, could be procured at lower annual interest. Thus cost to the taxpayers would be reduced.

The main danger is in liberalizing the borrowing power to a degree that endangers the political subdivision's credit. Otherwise, the plan has considerable merit and should have further consideration.

Sales Tax Bureau Under Fire For Failure To Collect 112 Million Dollars For State

Pennsylvania's Sales Tax Bureau is under attack for its alleged failure to collect 112 million dollars that is due the state.

The charge was made by a management study group hired to make a non-partisan and thorough study of the situation.

One section of this sorry report charged some of the bureau offices were being operated inefficiently, that there was a "lack of discipline" and a "reported unwillingness of some employees to apply themselves to the work for which they were employed."

The report further charged political interference and indifference in a number of cases. It may be argued that the sales tax is new in Pennsylvania, although we had it in a somewhat simpler form under the previous administration for two years.

Nevertheless, the present report conclusively shows evidence of sloppy work. This does not coincide with Governor Leader's demands for full-time work and efficient work by the 60,000 or more state payroll-ers.

Taxpayers will demand that the situation can be remedied—not only because the Commonwealth needs the revenue but because we have the right to expect efficient work from our public servants.

George Sokolsky Says...

Industrialization Is Logical Solution To Red China's Problems But Who Will Pay?

There used to be a commercial attaché in China, Julian Arnold, who tried hard to push American products. He tried to get the Chinese to like raisins. He also tried to introduce prunes, hoping thereby to increase the use of California fruits. If 400,000,000 Chinese each ate one prune a day, it would mean that California would sell 400,000,000 more prunes every day. The arithmetic was all right, but the Chinese did not take to prunes.

Now we are back to the question of the China market which has grown to 600,000,000 human beings who live on a low standard of living. The British, Japanese and the Germans would like to do more business in that market. The Japanese particularly, are bound to find a way to barter manufactured goods for foodstuffs, especially the soy bean which is a staple of the Japanese cuisine and which grows plentifully in Manchuria and areas of North China.

China can get from Japan, Poland and Czechoslovakia on better terms anything that the British can sell. In fact, textiles which used to be a principal item of British trade, are being manufactured on the China mainland and in Japan and Poland.

The China market can absorb strategic goods, war materials, and it makes no sense to sell that to Red China.

Thus far, the United States has avoided trade with Red China, except the payment of ransom for American citizens, held in that country.

The British have been more lenient and have tried to make a killing out of the port of Hong-kong while the going was good. Hongkong prospered for a period but the sale of strategic materials is like gun-running. It is only worth while when conditions are satisfactory and all transactions have to be for cash or are guaranteed by Chinese compradors, which narrows the market.

At the present time 15 nations are engaged in the ban of trade with Red China, but there is considerable difference of opinion and possibly smuggling of European goods into China. I recall that after World War One, the great Powers had a treaty not to sell arms to China, but I personally witnessed such sales out of embassies in Peking.

Henry Ford II, whose company could sell cars and tractors to Red China, takes the position that the United States needs to be realistic about trade with Red China and realism means that if we give aid to Communist Poland, why not do business with Communist China? The answer could be that we should not give aid to Poland or Yugoslavia or any Communist country, because again the question arises as to who will pay for the goods sold, the customer or the American taxpayer.

If it is to be the American taxpayer, he ought to have some choice in the matter. If it is his money that is to subsidize an American manufacturer or trader, he ought to have a voice as of land and through the cooperation of the State of Pennsylvania monies to be offered in the building of new plants.

To fully realize what the State is doing I suggest that all concerned parties purchase the Sunday New York Times of March 17, 1957, and take a look at the financial pages. What do we see? Our good old Commonwealth promoting Monroe County as a potential site for future industry.

In final analysis I say this, "Crow about what you know about." Don't put the blame for the lack of anything on any individual, politician or organization.

Put yourself in a position to know what it is all about, and take an active interest in your community. In an organization where your interest can be utilized to achieve better employment, better wages and more industry.

Sincerely yours,
S. JEROME RUBIN

Appropriate Dressing For Women Shopping

The Army made no secret of the kind of haircut Elvis Presley would have on induction to army service — a wino-sideburn not a receding hairline.

Five thousand school principals, meeting recently in Washington, heard a Buffalo, N.Y., administrator outline the approaching end of ducktail shoulder bobs for boys, fewer T-shirts and black boots. Buffalo high school students obey a voluntary code of "appropriate" dress for school attendance. Extremist party clothes are discouraged, as well as the too informal.

While applauding this new code for school youngsters, might we pause for a gander at Mamma's garb when she dashes downtown for a bit of butter, "Looking the part," we know, contributes to any role—but what is Mom going as?

I don't know about your town, but in mine we have strange and wonderful apparitions abroad in the marketplaces. Dressed like terrors after a bad season, or Trousers for women are comfortable and suitable costume for assisting the man of the house as he straightens up the basement. Certain very young matrons manage to look like English schoolgirls in neat Bermuda shorts—if that's the idea. If you've the house and the time and the figure for it, black velvet britches can double for something to wear by the fireside.

But on Main Street—No. Particularly if age and waistline exceed 25. It matters not how many tots must be chased and chastised in canny row at the grocery, any gal old enough to have and hold onto a cluster of kiddies is too old to wear pants so doing.

As for overweight ladies in unpressed plaid pleats, worn moccasins, hair pinned up under Susy's scarf—oh me. Some of us excuse general unkemptness in the name of informality. Better we take a leaf from that Buffalo schoolbook and up-grade our own voluntary code.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Bunche Held Responsible For Egypt Move In Gaza

Washington, March 19—A sensational charge is being made against Dr. Ralph Bunche.

The Under Secretary of the United Nations is alleged to be largely responsible for Egypt's abrupt resumption of rule in the Gaza Strip.

Senate Foreign Relations Committee members have been informed of this unexpected and highly explosive crisis was precipitated by Bunche's "exceeding his instructions" during his Cairo talks.

According to one detailed report received by these influential senators, dictator Gamal Nasser "either by wheedling or bluffing, or both, induced Bunche to agree to stripping the UN police force of all authority in the Gaza and to allow Egypt to again seize control there."

This report states flatly Bunche was not empowered to approve such moves or anything else. His orders, reportedly, were merely to ascertain Egyptian views for UN guidance and planning.

Instead, the 1950 Nobel Peace Prize winner is charged with taking matters in his own hands and, in effect, giving Nasser permission to restore his rule over Gaza.

This war-threatening development is attributed as the reason Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld suddenly changed his plans to fly to the Middle East. There has been no explanation for this mysterious delay.

Foreign Relations Committee members understand it was "urgently advised" by U.S. and other authorities. It can be positively reported that, last Saturday afternoon, Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy rushed to New York for a lengthy discussion with Hammarskjöld.

Murphy did that on orders from Secretary Dulles, then enroute back to Washington from the SEATO conference in Australia.

What Happened—The extraordinary charge against Dr. Bunche is being thoroughly gone into by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Two members of this powerful committee are on the U.S. delegation to the United Nations. They are Senate Republican Leader William Knowland, Calif., and Senator Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.), both sharply critical of recent events in the strife-torn Middle East.

It can be definitely stated that the tenuous Gaza situation will be fully explored by the Foreign Relations Committee. The senators are making no secret of their profound uneasiness over the new crisis. State Department and other informed officials will be closely questioned regarding what led up to it; particularly Bunche's curious role.

As UN Under Secretary, he is not subject to congressional interrogation or investigation. But Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and other U.S. authorities can be put on the grill, and that is what is contemplated.

Bases of this backstage plan as well as being directly involved in the sensational allegation against Bunche, are the following significant events:

Nasser made no move to assert control over Gaza until after his talk with Bunche. For more than a week, after the Israeli withdrew and UN police troops entered the area, the Egyptian dictator remained quiescent, as UN authorities understood he would do. Only after his secrecy-cloaked sessions with Bunche, did Nasser abruptly start talking tough and rush his administrators to Gaza.

Those mysterious remarks attributed to Bunche while in Cairo in which he was widely quoted as favoring Egyptian return to Gaza. Subsequently he denied using such expressions as "he agreed to," "in agreement with" (Nasser), "cooperate with" and "will welcome." Bunche's disavowal is directly contradicted by the Egyptian State Broadcasting System which claims to have a tape recording of these statements.

Prior to Bunche's trip to Cairo, Nasser gave an interview to the editor of a prominent Indian magazine stating no decision had been made regarding Israeli ships using the Suez Canal and Gulf of Aqaba. As quoted in this publication, the Egyptian dictator inferred an agreement was possible on this key issue.

Within a few days after his sessions with Bunche, a wholly different tune was sounded by Nasser. With his administrators back in Gaza, Nasser let it be known he was as determined as ever to bar Israel from both the Suez and Aqaba.

Note: Dr. Bunche became Acting UN Mediator on Palestine in 1948 after Count Bernadotte was slain by Israeli extremists. Bunche was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for his work in this difficult and perilous job.

Big Shot—Senate investigators are estimating Transamerica president Beck's wealth at between five and ten million dollars. The pudgy laborer has long been known to be a millionaire, but the Senate probers say he is a multi-millionaire. New Bedford, Mass., may soon figure prominently in this sensational probe. Agents of the McClellan Committee have been busy in this New England industrial center for several weeks. . . . Most uproariously applauded speech at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention was Boyd Leedom, chairman, National Labor Relations Board, who delivered a satirical allegory on conditions in the Year 2000. Among his thrusts were: "Some segments of organized labor had moved into an area that was more fun than work"; "open defiance of law gave way to honest acceptance of principle."

Forage Harvester Brings Riches To Prairie Inventor

By inventing a radically simple forage harvester, Vernon Lundell, of Cherokee, Iowa, has built a prosperous small manufacturing business in competition with the big farm-equipment corporations.

The major farm-equipment companies had come out of the war with such a backlog of orders that there was no great pressure on them to improve their models.

For several years they had left the innovations to the small companies; if a small company developed an original idea, the big ones could usually either buy it or get a franchise to make it.

Lundell is a man who had a lot of ideas in this period, and when he got the basic idea for his forage harvester in 1948 he hung on to it.

Instead of selling the patents to his forage harvester, he started making the machines in a former garage. Today Lundell has a plant with three assembly lines that can turn out his "hay choppers" at the rate of one every forty minutes.

Last year his Lundell Manufacturing Co. grossed $150,000 and netted $65,000 after taxes.

Lundell quit school after the eighth grade because he was in a hurry to get into business. He spent most of his free time haunting small machine shops and in 1945, at 24, he thought he knew enough to start his own business.

With initial capital of $141 he set up shop in a two-car garage on the farm, and invented a hoist that turned farm carts into dump wagons. He sold twenty hoists the first year and grossed $8,000.

In his garage he tinkered with other ideas, one of which was a tractor-drawn forage harvester. Conventional harvesters used sickle bars for cutting, moving belts or chains to carry the cut stalks, and blowers to load the forage.

Lundell's invention had only three main moving parts — a whirling cylinder with free-swinging hammers that pulverized the stalks, an auger, and blower. By 1953 he had perfected his harvester so that the cylinder, revolving at 1,500 rpm, not only cut and chopped the forage but also impelled it into a wagon.

Furthermore, it could be used to make forage or ensilage from corn, oats, alfalfa, sorghum grains, sugarbeet tops, and it could even cut cotton stalks.

While the big manufacturers continued to produce their complex harvesters, Lundell started making his simple, equally practical machines, and selling them for about $1,000—20 to 40 percent less than conventional harvesters.

His gross for 1952 was $360,000 — up 50 percent over 1951. Since then sales of the harvester have accounted for most of his steadily increasing gross. This year he is also earning royalties from a licensing agreement with Deere & Co.

The big manufacturers are now spending heavily on engineering research. Lundell is not at all worried, however, that his firm will be left behind in ingenuity; he has a score of inventions on the drawing board — (C 1957 Time Inc.)

Eat Your Troubles Away! Honey Puts Pep In Your Step

By Lelord Kordel
Installment 15

EVER SINCE the days of the Olympic games of ancient Greece, athletes have been eating honey as part of their training. It increases their endurance and mental alertness, gives them quick recovery. Deep-sea divers, too, have learned that honey gives them the energy needed for their grueling work.

Honey alleviates one of mankind's greatest scourges, the hangover. Dr. Oluf Martensen-Larsen, Denmark's leading alcoholism expert, discovered that honey is a simple, effective cure for this morning-after condition.

Why is this natural sweet a magic rejuvenator? Honey's "magic" lies in its chemical composition. Honey is the only animal carbohydrate available to you as a sweet. It is the only natural sugar of its kind—being 99 per cent predigested when it reaches your table. The dextrose or levulose in honey is the sweetest of all sugars; it is also the mildest, the easiest to digest, and the best source of quick, lasting energy.

Honey is "oats for the heart"—the heart's power supply. Dr. Arnold Lorand says: "As the best food for the heart, I recommend honey."

Best Heart Food

And Professor Dr. E. Koch, famous German heart specialist, most emphatically approves of honey for the heart: "The heart, after getting honey, can be compared with a horse after feeding it oats. It is loaded with strength."

Another European physician who recognizes the value of honey as a heart food, Dr. G. N. W. Thomas of Edinburgh, had this to say: "In heart weaknesses, I have found honey to have a marked effect in reviving the heart action and keeping patients alive. I suggest honey should be given for general physical repair and, above all, for heart failure."

Honey is a valuable agent in enabling the modern business executive to retard the wear and tear to which his human machine is inevitably exposed. He experiences fear, anger, anxiety, worry, grief, deep disgust. Such excitement makes the heart beat more rapidly and raises blood vessels. When, after such days, the businessman comes home, he has difficulty relaxing, sleeps soundly. One of two tablespoons of honey shortly before retiring can be very helpful.

A Natural Sedative

High blood pressure is also favorably influenced by honey. Being a natural sedative, it narrows the blood vessels by calming down the nervous system, which had increased the blood pressure.

When a young expectant mother asked me to what food she should give priority in her diet, I unhesitatingly recommended honey. She was advised to take at least two tablespoons of honey at each meal. This could be used to sweeten food, or eaten directly from the spoon.

Honey prevents fermentation in the gastrointestinal tract and is quickly absorbed. The much-needed minerals contained in it have important blood-building functions. With its slight laxative effect, honey prevents constipation. And being a body sedative, it promotes abundant, sound, refreshing sleep.

The easy absorbability of the proteins, minerals, and vitamins in honey enable the developing infant to build a healthy nervous system, prevent it from becoming a fussy baby.

Labor Groups Oppose Bills

HARRISBURG, March 19 (AP) —

Pennsylvania's four labor organizations today termed a group of labor bills before the House "as dishonestly misleading as they are arrogant and cruel." The sponsors said they attempt to grant "basic rights to members of labor organization."

The statement of opposition to the bills was signed by Joseph A. McDonough, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor; Harry Boyer, president of the Pennsylvania CIO Council; Charles J. Shadden, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and Lester Thomas, legislative representative of the United Mine Workers.

an especially good drink to combat the effects of the heat.

Vermonters believe honey bears the same relation to the body as fertilizer bears to the soil. With their canny affinity for the earth, they realize that, as they grow older, they resemble a piece of land that has been used up. They look to the perfect food gathered by the bees as their bank of health funds on which they can draw as they face old age.

Two or more teaspoonsful of honey with each meal will insure adequate honey nutrients for your body needs. The honeybee gives you many valid nutritional reasons for including the product of his chemistry in your diet.

The ancients believed this natural sweet meant a great deal to their survival. And, judging from the results of many modern experiments, I believe it offers all of us an opportunity to live life to its fullest.

Stroud Township Residents Warned To Control Dogs

A WARNING WAS ISSUED yesterday to Stroud Township residents to keep their dogs "under control" or face prosecution. It came from James Hazen, State dog law enforcement agent for this area.

Clifford C. Mathiesen

Hazen noted that many complaints concerning dogs running and roaming at will in the West Main, Arlington Heights and N. Fifth St. sections had been received. He was called in by township supervisors in an effort to create some canine order, he said. Hazen pointed out that merely purchasing a license for the dog does not relieve the owner of his obligations in residential areas.

Requirement

The law requires that all dogs must be "kept under control at all times regardless of whether they are licensed" Hazen said. He explained that, unless the dog is on its owner's property, it must be accompanied by a human being. When the owner is away the dog must either be put on a leash on the owner's property or confined to the owner's home, Hazen said.

Hazen said he intends to make a "house to house" check to look for proper licensing of dogs, also, in Stroud Township.

Stroudsburg Airman Ends Early Training

CLIFFORD C. Mathiesen, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Mathiesen, 607 Rosemond Ave., Stroudsburg, Pa., having successfully completed the initial phase of his aviation cadet training program, has been graduated from the USAF-Pre-Flight School, Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

The graduation was marked at a parade and assembly of the USAF-Pre-Flight School. This organization conducts the introductory course for all students enrolled in both pilot or navigator training.

Flying
Having completed the 12-week pre-flight course, he will enter the first flying phases of the program at bases of the Flying Training Air Force. Many of the pre-flight graduates will receive delays enroute to their new assignments which will enable them to take a brief home leave.

The program constitutes a major mission of Lackland, the Gateway to the Air Force base, commanded by Major General H. L. Grills.

Dynamite Used In Dump

PEN ARGYL — Efforts to eliminate the refuse being dumped at the borough dump without creating a nuisance for nearby residents, continued. Burning of the refuse has been halted because of the smoke nuisance to nearby homes.

Earlier this week, Burgess Harold Albert asked residents to pile lumber at the side of the road leading to the dump to prevent the collection of more floating debris and also to provide a supply of firewood for persons seeking it.

Six charges of dynamite were discharged in the quarry hole in an attempt to sink refuse which collects on top of the water. The dynamite has no effect toward sinking the floating debris.

WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER? COPYRIGHT 1957, BUREAU OF ADVERTISING OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

"I go over the ads every day...it's part of reading the newspaper"*

Ask ten different people why they read the daily newspaper and you'll probably get ten different answers. That's because the newspaper offers so much under one roof to interest people—local and world-wide news, sports, comics, fashions, gardening, home planning, business news, teen-age columns, human interest pictures, entertainment news, and a whole roomful more.

Newspaper reading is a local habit done on a national scale. And one habit common to almost all newspaper readers is shopping the paper. As the lady in our illustration says, "It's part of reading the newspaper." That is one of the fundamental reasons why an all time high of almost 57,000,000 newspapers are eagerly bought—and read—every day.

The newspaper is a basic need in peoples' lives and is naturally a basic selling tool for all kinds of advertisers—national, regional and local.

Is it your basic advertising medium?

CLASS CONDUCTOR—As if to disprove charges of anti-Jewish sentiment in the Soviet Union, this photo comes out of Moscow. It shows a class in session at an ecclesiastical school. Russia's chief Rabbi, M. Schliffer, is the instructor.

WHAT IS THIS?—It may take a few moments to figure out that this is an aerial view of a giant freight yard. It's the new $10 million 500 thousand electronic yard at Buffalo. The "hump" of the yard is shown in the foreground and the classification tracks are in the background. It replaces outmoded yards.

PROBING EGYPT'S PAST

WHILE TODAY'S NEWS out of Egypt revolves around the Suez crisis, a party headed by Dr. Adolph Klasens is digging into the affairs of the prehistoric Egyptian King Menes, founder of the first dynasty. Klasens, member of the Dutch Antiquities department, has unearthed ancient bowls and jars in tombs in the famed Giza pyramids area. They date back to time of King Menes. The tombs were of laborers and middle class people. Dr. Klasens said the bones and pottery found there are in an amazing state of preservation, since burials are estimated to have taken place about 3100 B.C. Expedition has uncovered nearly 70 tombs.

Bowls and jars like these were put in tombs to help sustain life in the hereafter.

'Threaded' Nails Hold Tightly

"THREADED" nails have exceptional holding power for such jobs as laying flooring, installing gypsum wallboard, and siding.

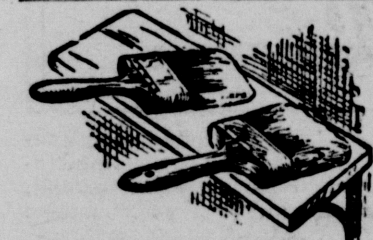

You can also use them in repairing loose flooring and eliminating "bumps" under tile flooring and "popped" nails in dry-wall installations. You drive them in like nails, yet they twist like screws.

Sanding Essential

HARDWOOD flooring comes from the mill smoothly surfaced. But in laying any floor, slight inequalities, also scratches and other marks, will appear. These can be removed by scraping and sanding. A smooth sanding is essential for a good finish job. After sanding, the floor should be brushed perfectly clean and the finish immediately applied.

Match Range Choice

HARDWOOD moldings and trim are being marketed to match the range of choice species available in hardwood plywood wall paneling.

Bathrooms Target For New Ideas

DESIGNERS lie awake nights thinking up ways to improve bathrooms. And frequently they come up with an idea which adds to the convenience and utility of the room or gives it new glamour and charm.

Some of these features have been listed by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau for the guidance of prospective builders of new homes as well as for owners of middle-aged homes with vintage bathrooms in need of modernization.

Among the features the Bureau recommends are:

King-size lavatories. Larger lavatories and bigger countertop surfaces can provide excellent facilities for light laundry, hair washing, and for bathing and dressing the baby.

Cabinets

Jumbo-size medicine cabinets. Provide as large medicine cabinets as possible. Sliding doors are preferred when the cabinets are installed over lavatories.

More storage. Plan for maximum storage space in the bathroom. Install a cabinet with self-contained hamper or use a chute directly to the laundry.

Elongated water closet. Whenever possible, use a water closet with an elongated bowl.

Fixtures in color. They add glamour and charm to the bathroom, creating a strong sales appeal.

Safety features. Grab bars should be used vertically for bathtub and shower and should be located for convenient use. They should be adequate in size and securely installed to sturdy backing or studding. Use non-skid linish for flooring. Install lock on the door which opens automatically

Soft Water Makes Dishes Dry Spotlessly In Washer

IF YOU EXPECT dishes to dry spotlessly in the automatic dishwasher, make sure your water supply is soft.

Dishwashing compounds tie up the hardness satisfactorily during the washing cycle. The trouble occurs when raw, unsoftened water is used in the rinsing cycle.

Hard rinse water deposits its mineral content—calcium and magnesium salts, in the main—on dishes, glassware and silverware. The dull, gray coating remaining after they dry, is hard to remove, even with vigorous toweling.

The best way to control hard water film, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, is to take out all of the hardness where the water supply enters the home—with a water softener. Home water softening equipment can be purchased outright from a plumbing contractor, or rented by the month from a water softening service organization.

Needed

Not only is softened water needed for better dishwashing results but it is equally necessary to protect the piping system, the bureau points out. Hot water service lines in particular, rapidly become scale-clogged from hard water.

This causes a condition of creeping pipeline paralysis, with reduced pressure at faucet outlets. Sooner or later the piping system has to be cleaned out to renew normal flow and pressure, an expensive undertaking. Hard water in the dishwasher may cause the valves to become hopelessly clogged. When this happens, there will be a complete breakdown until the equipment has been properly serviced.

from the inside and outside in case of emergency. Locate light switches out of reach of bathtub or shower.

Sound control. Sound transmission can be reduced by the use of acoustical materials on walls and ceilings.

Old Tables Made Into Coffee Tables

YOUR old dining-room table can be cut down to become a large, roomy coffee table.

The round type is best to use, but oblong and square tables also may be used. The coffee table can be used for many things, too, such as to hold potted plants, magazines, newspapers—or even for coffee.

One woman painted her table a glossy black to create dramatic interest, while another bleached the wood when she finished the table. This created a light effect suitable to her blond furniture.

Smooth With Sandpaper

IF YOU are going to give exterior woodwork a stain rather than paint, don't use steel wool for smoothing. The steel wool will leave small bits of iron in the wood and when these become wet, you'll get rust stains even though the wood has been treated with a stain.

Stick to sandpaper on this job and you won't have any troubles.

Sunlight Fades Colors

INTENSE sunlight for prolonged periods will fade even the fastest of colors. It's true economy to keep the blinds or shade drawn in rooms with western or southern exposure when the sun is at its brightest.

Steel Plate Rails May Be Installed

STAINLESS steel plate rails may be fitted into the backs of shelves in many steel kitchen wall cabinets to hold awkward sized or colorful plates upright.

This protects them from chipping, and permits easy access.

The rails extend approximately two inches toward the front and have slightly raised front edges to afford greater protection for plates supported on edge.

Check On Connections

MOST POWER tools, especially the portable types, come with a special grounding wire that can be fastened to the frame of the outlet box.

But before you put much faith in this connection, check or have your electrician check to be sure that the outlet box is actually grounded. Some are but many, because of faulty electrical connections, are not.

CHIMNEYS that are either too large or too small in proportion to the rest of the house should not be accentuated by painting them in contrasting colors. The poor proportion of the chimney will be less noticeable if it is painted the same color as the rest of the house.

Directions For Making Dust Rags

WANT to make your own dust rag? Here's a suggestion by the home economics department of the University of Rhode Island: Wash a piece of cheesecloth in hot water and wring dry. Pour a small amount of turpentine over the cloth until it is barely damp, and then wring dry.

Apply varnish to the cloth, working it in until the cloth is yellow. Wring the cloth again until it is damp enough to pick up dust. Keep this tack rag in a glass jar when not in use.

Apply Stain Sealer

IF YOU plan to paint over a surface that has previously been stained, first apply a stain sealer to prevent any possibility of the stain "bleeding" through the new coating.

IT'S EASY WITH SAKRETE

Just add water, mix and it's ready to use. Perfect for those small jobs. Pick up a bag this week at . . .

School Funds Charted For PTA Study

The assessed value of property in East Stroudsburg has not yet returned to the level of 1930, the East Stroudsburg Parent-Teachers Association learned at their meeting on Monday night at the Junior High School.

Robert Wright, a member of the school board, by means of graphs showed that the sharp drop in assessment valuation during the war years in the community had not yet returned to pre-war levels. At the same time, a far lower percentage of the tax dollar remains in the community, he pointed out.

In 1932, 55 cents out of each tax dollar went to the borough, 23 cents went to the state and 22 cents to the federal government. In 1952, only 12 cents of each tax dollar remained for borough use; 75 cents going to the federal government and 12 cents to the state.

In this same period of time, school expenses have more than quadrupled. The total school budget in 1930 was $91,000. Last year it was $375,000.

During the years, school buildings have aged, Carl Secor, supervising principal pointed out. The elementary school was constructed in 1891, the annex in 1910 and the high school in 1915. The need for new buildings is very pressing, he said, for the sake of the children.

Mrs. Wendell Wicks presided at the meeting. Mrs. Zigmunt Vlechnicki, membership chairman, announced that the PTA now numbers 407 members. "Your Child and His Science Studies" will be the theme of the April program, Mrs. David Mazer, program chairman, announced.

Mrs. James Gillilan reviewed articles in the National PTA Magazine, and urged all parents to become subscribers. A nominating committee was elected: Mrs. Seymour Pollan, chairman; Gerald Snyder, and Ralph Burrows.

Plans for the PTA square dance May 4 at the Junior High School were announced.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Remember Emma Shay? She and Mrs. W. B. Easton made a trip to Russia, as I recall, and such excitement as there was at club meetings when we could get them to talk about it. In fact, anybody who had been beyond the continental borders was fair game for all program chairmen.

Nowadays, seems as if everybody, but maybe you and I, has been to far-away places with strange-sounding names. Of course the men in the service have gone to the four corners and in some cases taken their families with them and in others brought back families.

But even apart from that, people are traveling far and wide. But even in these days, it would be hard to equal Charlotte Herman's trip. Something like 23 countries, they visited, but even more impressive to me than the formal visit was their opportunity to talk informally with student groups wherever they went.

Now there, program chairmen, seems to me is a four-star program worthy of searchlights and sirens. How do you act when you know you are representing the state department of the United States of America? What do you say to the Queen of Sheba? What did a university student in Ceylon say to you?

I don't envy many people much—but it's hard not to feel discontented and sick-in-the-mudish in the face of that experience. What do I mean, stick in the mud? Snow, more likely.

Famous Persons Send Packages For Circus Bazaar

Mystery packages will be featured at two booths at the Circus Bazaar being given by the Junior Women's Club on March 30 from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, East Stroudsburg, for the benefit of the Day Care School.

Bob Hope, J. Edgar Hoover, Ray Bolger, Gene Autry, Perry Como and Arthur Godfrey have sent packages for the parcel post booth of which Mrs. Robert Payne is chairman. Packages have also been received from Eddie Fisher, Walt Disney, Jack Bailey, Tennessee Ernie, Dinah Shore and Ann Southern.

In addition to the packages from famous personalities, members have been soliciting packages from friends and relatives everywhere, Bogata, Colombia, South America; Florida, California and Chicago are a few of the places from which packages have been arriving.

Mrs. Payne is being assisted in the booth by Mrs. Alton Jones, Mrs. Royal Brown, Mrs. Joseph Moffitt and Mrs. Earl Warner.

At the Sample Booth, with Mrs. Nelson Lightner, chairman, samples of many products and of great variety have been contributed by various local merchants and plants. Assisting Mrs. Lightner are Mrs. Martin Ellsweig, Miss Doris Salathe and Mrs. Howard Popkin.

Installation For PO of A Thursday Night

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Walter Logan called me into his picture framing studio in our Wyckoff parking lot the other morning to tell me about an interesting feature which he has just inaugurated. It's the "Picture a Week" exhibit, in which local artists, particularly members of the Pocono Mountains Art Group, are invited to exhibit.

On display in the window at the present time are a Still Life by Gwen Austen of Mountainhome, which is for sale, and "Gap View from Buck Hill Falls", painted by Mrs. J. McEldowney of Buck Hill, and not for sale.

Cards have been sent to all members of the Pocono Mountains Art Group, inviting them to participate, so that interested persons can become acquainted with the many types of art created by the talented residents of this area. It is Walter's plan to go through the list alphabetically beginning next week, until all interested artists have had the opportunity to show their work. Follow-up cards will be sent to the two artists whose turn it will be each week.

Most artists in this area are, I am sure, very well acquainted with our art supplies store, although some of our part-time residents may not be aware that since Christmas its location has changed. No longer is it located at the rear of our Music Store... it is now neatly housed in an attractive white building on our parking lot. Here Walter has a fascinating display of mountings, as well as many ready made frames, both for hanging and standing. He also has a rainbow of oils and crayons that are guaranteed to set an artist yearning for new subjects to paint, and are absolutely fascinating to those of us who are not artistic but would dearly love to be. Then, of course, there are sketch pads, charcoal, canvases, easels, palettes, knives, and all the other paraphernalia used by artists.

Having, as I do, a deep appreciation of art and artists, I cannot imagine anyone not being intrigued by Walter's department. I hope you feel the same way, and will drop by to chat with him and browse. He'd be delighted to have you, I'm sure.

ROUND AND ABOUT... Phoebe Conrad, who creates the charming shadow boxes peopled by wax figures, was a visitor to our Art Store Monday morning, and asking directions to Broad street. "Wouldn't you think I'd know after all these years?" she laughed, seeming, momentarily, more confused than ever when we wondered whether she wanted Broad street, Stroudsburg or East Stroudsburg... Mr. Wyckoff was the purchaser of those delightful sock-toys on display in my candy department, Elsie Miller tells me. At first I thought they were the kind of toy you unravel to find trinkets, but they're not. They're just charming ornaments, with per little faces. For 1.00 there's a Wise Old Owl wearing a mortar board. Amusing too is a duck, too daring for words, in a checkered cap. They'd be cute gifts for almost any girl or boy, regardless of age, either tucked into the bow of a package or the center of an Easter basket... If anyone wonders why I went sprinting through the store Monday morning at a pace out of character with my sheath skirt, it's because Mr. Wyckoff, in riding attire, was just getting into his station wagon to drive into the country, and he was scheduled to be on the air in 15 minutes. Not that I blamed him for wanting to ride horseback into the crisp, sunny air of an almost-Spring day—but I didn't wish to disappoint Mary Hall, Stroudsburg High School's home economics supervisor, and Beatrice Weber, her pupil, who won the award in our annual Fashion Show for the best made ensemble. We're sorry that Mae Smith, of Folk Township, whose party dress won the Daily Record's ornith as the most fashionable entry, was unable to be present with her teacher, Mrs. Marian Mackay. Both young women deserve a great deal of credit for their workmanship is excellent, and their taste superb. The entire show was splendid—one of the finest we've ever held at Wyckoff's—with credit due all the girls and home ec teachers.

Late Improvement Sparks Stock Market Finish

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—A late improvement left the stock market higher today after mixed trends had prevailed throughout most of the day.

Coppers, steels and most oils led the late upturn, which was accompanied by a slight pick-up in volume. Until the last hour trading had been even slower than in yesterday's very dull session.

Volume totaled 1,540,000 shares, up from the previous session's 1,450,000 shares, which was the lowest since Oct. 23.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks was up 70 cents at $173.80 with the industrials up $1.00, rails 60 cents and utilities 20 cents.

Of the 1,102 issues traded, 515 advanced while 331 declined. Despite the generally higher market, new lows for 1956-57 outnumbered new highs by 16 to 7. But among the 16 most active stocks, 11 gained while only 2 lost ground.

Most active issue was American Motors, up 1/4 on top of a 1/2 gain yesterday. George Romney, president, will meet in Miami tomorrow with Louis Wolfson, recently revealed as the company's largest stockholder.

In the rail group Baltimore and Ohio, New York Central and Southern Railway scored modest gains. In utilities Consolidated Natural Gas and Commonwealth Edison were ahead fractionally while Consolidated Edison eased.

Gifts are coming in to Mrs. Neil Lehto for the box to Hungary. Now the problem is to find postage. The box can be solved by many gifts of even a dime or quarter. Clothing and medicines will make up the bulk of the box.

Fourteen ladies attended a noon meal and demonstration at the Stroudsburg P. P. & L. kitchen. Mrs. Herbert Baker, chairman of one of the Presbyterian Church project committees, had arranged the trip which was enjoyed by Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Russell Buzzard, Mrs. Clifford Hauser, Mrs. Chris Falkenhagen, Mrs. Nelson Lightner, Sr., Mrs. P. A. Rockett, Mrs. Richard Carlton, Mrs. Russell

Pirates Tor Chisox On Rookie's Hit

TAMPA, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Rookie slugger Dick Stuart hammered two 400-foot homers to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-3 exhibition baseball victory over the Chicago White Sox today.

Stuart slammed his first homer off Billy Pierce with one aboard in the first inning and the other was a solo off Gerry Staley in the ninth. He fanned his other three times at bat.

Five Homers

Stuart now has collected five homers and eight strikeouts in four games this spring.

The Sox got only eight hits off Paul Minner and three rookies. Jim Rivera knocked in all three runs with a single and double.
